Art Unit: 2876

1. The terminal disclaimer filed 8/5/05 is approved. Upon reconsideration, new art has been found which is considered pertinent. This action will NOT BE MADE FINAL.

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 1-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Claim 1 recites "a transponder configured to communicate with a reader" and "a reader configured to communicate with said system". Are the two recitations of "a reader" directed at the same or different readers? If they are the same reader, it is suggested that the second recitation be referred to as --said reader--. If they are not the same reader, it is suggested that the two readers be referred to as a -- first reader -- and a -- second reader---respectively. Claims 2 and 6 refer back to "said reader". To which reader are these claims referring. Appropriate correction is required.

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Art Unit: 2876

5. Claims 22,26,32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Fife et al 6,601,759. Fife discloses a card transaction system in which biometric information, possibly DNA, is compared at time of transaction for authorization to use the card (col 9 lines 19-61).

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

8. Claims 23-25,27-31,33-46 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fife et al 6,601,759 in view of Mann 6,446,862. Fife discloses that which is seen above. Fife does not specifically disclose the DNA sampling on the card. Mann discloses DNA sampling on the card and transmitting data to a host. It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to provide a DNA sampling on the card as this would allow for current information to always be compared to authorized stored DNA, eliminating the use of the card by a non-authorized person.

9. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Mosher, Jr. et al 2003/0173408, Cudlitz H2120 and Leedom, Jr. 2001/0036835 all disclose DNA sampling.
